Breakout Session Descriptions

Community Building – Getting to Know Each Other

Student Leaders will guide you through a series of interactive teambuilding activities to get to know each other, create an atmosphere of community and openness amongst your future classmates.

Making Connections - It Starts With Each Other

The connections you make with each other, The Office of Career Management, alumni, and other veterinary professionals will greatly enhance your veterinary network and prove invaluable throughout your time as both a student and veterinary professional. In this interactive session, students will practice building relationships with each other to further enhance their networking and other professional skills.

Professional Scholars: Current Student Panel

Do you have questions about being a veterinary student at The Ohio State University? During this session, student ambassadors will help put your mind at ease by answering questions and sharing experiences with you.

Diversity Works: How to Recognize, Interrupt, and Respond to Microaggressions

Microaggressions, which can come in the form of common statements, are often made by people that are not intentionally trying to cause harm, but can impact others in very harmful ways. We will examine examples of microaggressions by looking at the intent, impact and best response for each statement. This presentation is based off Dr. Maura Cullen’s book, 35 Dumb Things Well-Intended People Say.
