CLASS OF 2019 ORIENTATION

The Ohio State University
College of Veterinary Medicine
Congratulations!

Welcome to the Ohio State University College of Veterinary Medicine. We look forward to getting to know you and having the opportunity to work with you over the next four years.

New Student Orientation is a series of activities for students to help them successfully transition into veterinary school.

Over the next two days students will participate in many fun and informative activities designed to ease them into their first day of veterinary school. They will engage with their fellow students, discover their strengths and dominant talents, learn how to put their talents to use in the workplace and at home, while learning to appreciate and leverage the strengths of others.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us at (614) 292-1171.

Maximizing Your Health and Wellness—Yes It’s Possible in Vet School!

This session will address managing stress, balancing school and home life, and maximizing health and wellness throughout your veterinary training, from a student perspective. Your questions and active participation are encouraged!

Your Career Journey—From Start to Fulfillment

You have a wealth of resources available to you, including a network of alumni willing and eager to give back to students through mentoring, employment opportunities, and scholarships. In this session, current students will discuss how building relationships with us will enhance your veterinary career while in school and beyond!

Current Student Panel

In this session, current veterinary students will answer questions and share their experiences and views with you.

Diversity Works: How to Recognize, Interrupt, and Respond to Microaggressions

Microaggressions, which can come in the form of common statements, are often made by people that are not intentionally trying to cause harm, but can impact others in very harmful ways. We will examine examples of microaggressions by looking at the intent, impact and best response for each statement. This presentation is based off Dr. Maura Cullen’s book, 35 Dumb Things Well-Intended People Say.

Academic Success
The Academic Success session introduces students to strategies and skills designed to assist as they transition from their undergraduate experiences to a professional program. Topics covered include: time management, note taking and exam preparation, learning styles, and developing an individual learning plan.

Managing your Finances
In this session strategies for limiting your debt while in school and basics of loan repayment will be discussed. If time permits, general financial aid Q & A will be provided.

Veterinary School Merchandise Fair
Student groups will sell merchandise throughout the day outside of the Veterinary Medicine Academic Building. Cash, check and credit cards are accepted. If you do not want to wait in a long line to pay by credit card, cash and check are encouraged.

Health Sciences Community

Working together for a healthy world

iPEP Seminar

The goal of the first inter-professional education and practice (iPEP) seminar is for our first year veterinary students to meet other healthcare professionals, to have an opportunity to learn about their respective professions, and to establish an inter-professional network. The assignment is to read the book, The Spirit Catches You and You Fall Down, by Anne Fadiman. The book can be purchased from Amazon. Students will be assigned to small groups that include members of all the health science colleges. In addition, they will hear a presentation by Dr. Jennifer Kue.

Student objectives for the seminar include:

1. Develop a better understanding of the scope and practice of the participating disciplines.
2. Begin to develop respect for the contribution made by each member of the health care team.
3. Discuss the impact the American Health Care system will have on persons from cultures not familiar with health care delivered in the US.

No other U.S. University offers students all seven health sciences disciplines on one campus.
